

McADOO APPLAUDS BOODLE INQUIRY

Declares Expenses of National Elections Should Be Paid by Government.

NEW YORK, July 9.—William C. McAdoo, speaking at the dinner of the National League of Maonics club here last night, declared there is no miracle so great to our nation as the corrupt use of money for campaign purposes. "I was secretary of the treasury for six years and know the harm that is done by the misuse of money," he said. "I am not talking about Republicans alone, but Democrats as well, for they all look alike to me when they are guilty of spending money in the manner they did."

Mr. McAdoo declared campaign contributions would make their reward in various ways, one of which was the reduction of duty on imports. He pointed out that a fraction of a cent reduction would run into big figures.

Mr. McAdoo said that as an American citizen, seeking nothing, there were some things about the coming election he would like to refer to. The appointment of the senate committee to investigate campaign expenditures, he declared, was one of the "few intelligent things the senate ever did."

"There is one thing America can never stand for," he continued, "and that is the purchase of the presidency of the United States."

"In my opinion the election law should be changed," he said. "The expense for running the national election should be paid out of the national treasury and if this were done the cost would be infinitely less. It would be reduced one-fifth. The money should be taken from the federal treasury and the law should provide specifically how the money should be spent. If such a step were taken it would to a great extent purify our laws."

"It would then be out of the question to pass the laws for crooked politicians who have to be repaid in some way for the money they have advanced for some candidate's campaign."

He urged a nationwide presidential primary in which nominees would be selected without the aid of political bosses.

"If a contributor to a national campaign," Mr. McAdoo said, "is able to obtain the remission of a fraction of one cent on the duty on a particular article in which he was interested, he might receive in return for his campaign contribution in ten, 20, 30, 40, 50, possibly even 1,000 times, the amount he had subscribed."

The presidential primaries in various states during the recent campaign, he declared, were a disgrace to the nation. He proposed that nominations be made in the national conventions by plurality vote, instead of the two-thirds vote of the Democrats and the majority vote of the Republicans.

"To make this successful, he asserted, national politics must first be purified. The nominees must be the nominees of the people, not of the bosses," Mr. McAdoo said. "The selection of a nominee must not be the selection of a bossed convention. The delegates must really represent the people. No nominee candidate can go forward and make a fight for the people."

Mr. McAdoo said the only method of preserving peace is the adoption of a league of nations, and sooner or later, America will see it in its proper light.

In order to stabilize conditions in the central powers, it is necessary, he asserted, to aid in curbing economic boycotts directed against those nations. This would also serve to promote domestic tranquility.

"Let us all remember," he added, "we have a constitution, and all America reveres it, even with the Eighteenth amendment. We love the American constitution and we accept it."

WOULD DEVELOP MANGO AS COMMERCIAL FRUIT

WASHINGTON, July 9. (By International News Service.)—Development of the mango as a commercial fruit is being taken up by experts in the U. S. department of agriculture.

The East Indian mango is one of the fruits of the world, according to the department. "To those who have really tasted the good sorts of it the mango is a 'black eye'." Early travelers were more anxious to describe its peculiarities than its virtues.

Today the mangoes are worth about 25 cents apiece. It is being developed and will become one of the foremost fruits of Southern Florida, according to the agricultural department.

There are now fruiting at the department plant instruction field station at Miami, Fla., about 20 varieties of mangoes which are selections from about 20 varieties.

PRINCE ALBERT IS LIKED BY WORKING MEN

LONDON, July 9.—Prince Albert, who has become duke of York, Baron Kilbarney, and earl of Inverness, as son and son of the king, who possessed the titles as King Edward's second son, is known as "The Industrial Prince" because of his keen interest in economic questions, his belief that no member of "the idle rich" had a genuine worker, and the sympathy he has won with wage-workers with whom he frequently and comfortably converses.

The prince is described as a tall, amiable, likable, practical Englishman, who has no brilliant but knows the job of being prince is to be sincere. His passion is for lawn tennis and squash rackets, and his chief amusement is in dancing. Recently he was created a wing commander in the Royal Air force, in which he won his wings as a pilot.

Prince Albert makes no pretense to oratory, but always says something to the point and his speeches are not written for him.

TAMPA CIGARMAKER OBLIGED TO GIVE UP

Influenza Dragged Him Down. Health Restored by Taking Tanlac—He Gains 17 Pounds.

"If I had not had of Tanlac, I would have been a dead man," said Solomons A. Barner, a cigarmaker of Palmetto Beach, Tampa.

"Why, I have already gained seventeen pounds and am feeling like a new man, although I have taken less than five bottles of Tanlac. Before I started taking it I was in mighty bad shape. In September, I was taken down with influenza and it left me all run down in health and with a nagging cough that bothered me every day. I didn't have any appetite hardly, and what little I did manage to eat did me very little good. I got weaker all the time and sometimes when I was sitting

NO FOOLING—

Don't you think the wife is due some help—this is the time of wash clothes—you wear them, the wife wears them and the kiddies play out of doors and of course they get potty black.

Send home an EDEN, your wife will be happier than she has been for years. DON'T MAKE yourself think she has not wished for an EDEN EVERY DAY, for she has envied her neighbor, her freedom from drudgery, and Monday will be happy Monday, NOT BLUT Monday with the little girl all tired and cross.

The EDEN will make clothes last 5 times as long as the tub and washboard.

The EDEN washes, clean and sanitary.

The EDEN is the most valuable family possession, for as long as you live you will have to have clothing, draperies and washable goods cleaned—and I say to you, Oh Boy! the EDEN will everlastingly clean them.

"Love Payroll" Of Elwell Is Sought In Murder Puzzle

NEW YORK, July 9.—Search for a "love payroll" said to have been kept by Joseph B. Elwell, and for a later will than that filed for probate, marked a new turn in the district attorney's investigation into the mysterious murder of the wealthy turfman and whist expert here last month.

Banks in which Elwell kept funds were asked to furnish transcripts of his accounts for several months prior to his death. Evidence that the turfman had been paying one woman $10 and another $400 a month is being investigated in the hope that more light may be shed on such disbursements.

Incidental to acknowledgment of this trend of the inquiry, Assistant District Attorney Talley related some of Elwell's "tips on how to handle women."

One of Elwell's tactics, according to the story related to Talley, was to hold aloof from a woman he particularly admired. Then he would tell other women how much he liked her and continue abruptly to avoid her.

This invariably brought the woman to the club at their next meeting, Saturday.

KYSER'S BROTHER DIES.

he wanted to the point of seeking him," Talley added.

In the search for a will said to have been drawn in December, 1916, leaving most of his estate to his son, Richard, the district attorney's office conferred with Frederick Inghram, the attorney who said he drew it up. The will now on file, drawn in 1916, left nothing to his son, all the property going to the turfman's parents. No definite clues as to the whereabouts of the latter alleged document have been uncovered so far, it is stated.
